FACULTY/STAFF HIGHLIGHTS:

August, 2016: Two High Point Teachers Recognized as New Jersey's Finest.

MRS. BARBARA FASANO was recently honored by Princeton University as one of New Jersey's finest high school teachers. Princeton's program has been honoring outstanding teachers in New Jersey since 1959. Mrs. Fasano was one of 300 nominees. She was then chosen as one of ten finalists.

Ultimately she was a top honoree and was invited to the Princeton campus where she was honored at the university's May 31 commencement ceremony. Congratulations Mrs. Barbara Fasano!

FACULTY/STAFF HIGHLIGHTS:

August, 2016: Two High Point Teachers Recognized as New Jersey

MRS. KORY LOYOLA is New Jersey's 2016 History Teacher of the Year! The distinguished Gilder Lehrman Institute of American History announced this year's winners in June, 2016. Mrs. Loyola was chosen as NJ's finest after hundreds of nominees were carefully considered. High Point is extremely proud, yet in no way surprised that this recognition was bestowed upon Mrs. Loyola. A High Point alumna, Mrs. Loyola has been an outstanding member of our faculty for more than 15 years. She is currently pursuing her PhD. in History through Drew University.
