

Study Strategies

- Break large assignments into manageable parts. Use your planner to set target dates.
 - Take complete and well organized notes. Use highlighters to review notes (ie; terms in yellow, dates in pink, ...)
 - Create flashcards for study and review.
 - Reduce distractions when working, as much as possible.
 - * Read or study in the afternoon and then explain what you covered to a family member that night.
 - Ask class teacher for extra help. Arrange to meet them when they are available (before/after school, unit lunch, study hall period)
 - Form a study group of conscientious classmates. Meet during lunches, after school, or a time at night to study by phone/facetime/skype.
 - Consult a knowledgeable upperclassman for help or ask your counselor or teacher to connect you to a peer tutor.
- Consult an online tutoring site such as:
- khanacademy.com
 - hippocampus.org
- Ask your teacher for other content specific websites for help, such as mathispower4u.com, or sites connected to your textbook.
